THANK YOU TO OUR MOTHERS

On Mother's Day, I am reminded of all the sacrifices that my mom has made for me, I realized how much love my mom gave me, and I want to take this opportunity to pay tribute to all the mothers out there.

To the new moms who are navigating the sleepless nights, the endless diaper changes, and the constant worry, remember, you are shaping the future by raising your child with love and care.

To the moms of young children who are in the midst of chaos. Juggling work, school runs, and endless activities can be overwhelming, but you are doing it all with grace and strength.

To the moms of teenagers who are navigating the ups and downs of adolescence, the eye-rolls, the attitude, and the constant push and pull can be challenging, but your love and support are guiding them to maturity and independence.

To the empty nesters whose children have grown and gone, the silence of an empty house can be difficult, but you have raised confident and capable children who will make their own way in the world.

To the grandmothers who are now watching their children become parents themselves, the wisdom and love that you bring to your grandchildren's lives are invaluable.

To all the mothers out there, to all those who face difficulties becoming a mother, to all those who mother children that are not their own, I want to say: thank you. Thank you for your tireless love, your unwavering commitment, and your endless sacrifices. You are the backbone of our families and the foundation of our church. May God bless you all.

~ Msgr. Michael Busch
